

KI 211 : Foundations of Physical Education

This is a study of significant concepts of physical education with emphasis on history, current issues and trends in the field. Students learn about and gain experience teaching locomotor and manipulative skills. May include relevant field placement/trips.

Credits 3.0

Semester Offered

Offered fall semesters