

NU 512 : Advanced Assessment, Pathophysiology and Pharmacology

Students examine assessment findings, pathophysiological processes and pharmacological therapies related to common health conditions encountered in nursing practice settings. Students focus on analyzing health histories, assessment findings, test results, and medical treatments to design nursing care for a variety of patient populations.

Credits 4.0