

CJ 310 : Criminal Law and Procedure

This course introduces students to substantive criminal law and criminal procedure. Students will develop skills in legal analysis and learn the elements and defenses associated with criminal offenses. The course examines criminal statute^ the common law, legal terminology, defenses, court procedures, the trial process, evidence, sentencing, appeal probation, jail, prison, parole, civil commitment, and current events. Extensive reading, analysis, classroom participation, and writing is required.

Credits 4.0

Prerequisites

sophomore standing or above