

History Teaching Licensure

Degree Type

Teaching Licensure

History students interested in earning a teaching license should plan to double major in history and education and student teach their final semester. These students should enroll in ED 101 their first semester or as soon as possible thereafter and work closely with their advisors in both departments to ensure all State of Illinois requirements for licensure are met.